DEMO-TAPE

I was so excited when hearing the term DEMO-Tape, I thought to myself that this is gonna be great. I never knew the kissing up one has to do just to get your music heard.

What ever the A&R person said to me I was like "Okay" I can do it; not knowing

It was all a test of the human mind games being played upon me. So like everyone else I recorded day and night paying out of pocket money I really didn't have, but made it happen on a shoe string budget.This all taken place back in 1982 through 1999.

When music was real music: all I had was a Casio Keyboard $50.00 keyboard.

I thought I was the type flight producer.LOL

In reality I was horrible believe it or not I still have a lot of those demo tapes in my vault. Need-less to say I had some funky hooks but was totally blind of understanding engineering. I didn't understand mixing boards either I would just out flat record. After about two to three years I started sounding better and getting great tips on how to record using a home studio and mixing music with a mixer. However it still needed a lot of attention, but still had that great melody that the A&R staffers come to love. I started to get calls from big time senior A&R staff asking for more demos. As I prepared demos for companies like MCA,Warner Brothers,Tommy Records,Motown,Sony,CBS,Paisley Park etc.. This is when I started to meet my Manager. My first manager was from a country radio station in St.Louis Mo. Called WIL-Country Radio. I sent in some demos to him because of our relationship as friends from radio mentoring. Need-less to say he wanted in and ask if I had sign to any other manager, which my answer was no. This was my first wave of demo shopping with a manager.

Later as we started recording out of a real studio, he later revel that he has another person whom has in-tress in what I do for as my works. This was a close friend of his whom had wealth. So now I have two managers, and she never wanted to be seen by myself. I thought that was weird she was always on the low=Hidden. I later found out as my life in the industry would get a bit more stranger every other month it was not adding up and they both started to get far distance from myself. Although she paid for all sessions and never ask me for a dime something spooked her and out of the blue she called and says "I'm done" she wants no part of this; she added by saying she feels she doesn't know enough about this industry to continue on this journey. This had taken place around 1985-1990. I just didn't get it at that time, but later as I kept on my journey I would understand why she & he got spooked.

"keep in mind I was still sending in demos to all of the above companies"

A lot of my demos are still with some of these companies as of this day.

I started getting calls from a lot of indie companies whom was affiliated with major recording companies. I later found this out later as well as my journey in the industry continues, When you are on this road to no where you start to meet a lot of so called industry people. Whom seems to everyone in A&R so they say, I would later find out that half of these so called industry people was soul takers looking for new breed to clone for their father "SATAN" Being green I was like a kid at candy factory, only this candy was not free it all hand strings attached.(example) They always invited you to their get togethers and they remind you don't bring anyone with you, it's for up & coming artist only. When you hear this you feel like "Yeah" You feel so excited because you are on your way-"right" ? No! you are not.

THE RITUALS

Something that most people whom are fame struck never hear, well I'm hear to let you know

If your thinking about being on t.v. Maybe your thinking about being in polite=Sitcom

Get ready to perform the rituals this has been going on since he beginning of time.

As The Lord told us "There is nothing new under the sun"

So when you hear of this in person don't be dismayed you have been told for time and time again and over and over again. However you seem to believe that people are just naturally. Great and people like myself are crazy. This is what they all say until they are faced with the contract of the oath. Because if you are not willing to play the game you will be dismissed= never heard of again ever heard of the one hit wonders ?

How do you think they got the title ? They refuse to sigh to the rituals, so in not doing so they career in the industry was cut very short. Believe or not some left the country after undergoing demonic spirits and never talked about their ordeal concerning the industry.

Even though they left the country, but the spirits will continue to follow them and haunt them. Making them afraid to talk about anything concerning the industry. This a part of the rituals, you have to clearly understand how these people think. Their entire outlook on humanity is to drive you to fear. When this is done they have you in a subliminal concise mind set. This will get you to "OBEY"= Lusting, Hunger, Idol Worship, Gay sex, Drugs, Molestation, Blood Sacrifice, Hate Groups etc…

I know this sounds like Sci Fi block buster "right" ? Only this time it's live not memorex.

If someone would have told me that I would endure such evilness I would have never made a demo, but like everyone else whom believe they have some talent you will go to the limits trying to prove yourself to these evildoers not knowing the outcome, because you are so fame driven you can't see your on nose in front of you. So you will do what it takes unless you are a spiritual praying soul; and just maybe the Lord will wink at your ignorance and give you a sign. This is what happen for me the lord gave me many signs to walk away and yes at first I didn't, I was driven to be famous, but keep in mind the Lord known of us since the birth of

THE SACRIFICE

There are steps on getting that multimillion dollar "Con-Tract" 1st-You meet the who's who. 2nd- They will wine and dine you like a harlot to a condom. 3rd- They will show you the skies are the limit, by this time they have your attention. And last they offer you a deal with a minor defect. You must swear to their "OATH" In the above photo you see Aaliyah and a lot of people really believe this was an accident when in doubt it wasn't; it was indeed a "Sacrifice" for her fiancee= Damon Dash. This is about as good as it get far as an (example) on the people whom you love sell you out for a "Pay Check" I will explain what comes after the sacrifice
